

Ramdev tips to ward off coronavirus anger healthcare professionals

ALEXANDRA ULMER
Mumbai, March 18

HEALTHCARE PROFESSIONALS are questioning claims by yoga guru and entrepreneur Baba Ramdev who said he has found an ayurvedic remedy that would help ward off coronavirus. In a promotional video made public this week, Ramdev, in his trademark saffron robes and clutching a sample of the medicinal plant produced by Patanjali, the company he co-founded, says: "We've done scientific research and found Ashwagandha ... doesn't allow blending of corona protein with human protein."

He did not provide evidence for the research, which he said had been sent to an unspecified international journal.

"These kinds of messages give a false sense of security. People who are not well educated are the ones who will get misled," said Dr Giridhar Babu, a professor of epidemiology at the Public Health Foundation of India, urging the government to ban such advertisements. Even potentially harmless tweets about immunity risk confusing people, Babu added.

Multiple calls and emails seeking comment from Patanjali and Ramdev went unanswered.

In a series of tweets,

Ramdev also urged Indians to take up yoga to boost immunity, using the hashtag #YogaForCorona.

Patanjali, one of India's most well-known ayurvedic brands, and several other such firms have been touting their products to fight coronavirus.

The virus has infected nearly 200,000 people worldwide and over 140 in India, where three people have died. Tweets of ayurvedic companies have infuriated healthcare professionals who fear they will hurt the battle to stem the virus.

Local media has reported that Ramdev has also called on people to use hand sanitizer and keep distance from others — recommendations broadly in line with those of global health experts. —REUTERS

Compliance norms tightened for Nidhi firms

RISHI RANJAN KALA
New Delhi, March 18

THE MINISTRY OF corporate affairs (MCA) has tightened compliance norms for Nidhi companies, a kind of non-banking financial companies (NBFCs), which are created to borrow and lend money among its members.

The move comes in the backdrop of the government revising corporate norms to ensure that investors are not duped through fraudulent activities.

The ministry has advised investors to verify the status of a Nidhi company from the notification issued by the Centre in official gazette before making any investment or deposit. Although there is no updated data on the number of such entities registered with the MCA, sources say there are around 350 such companies. A major part of them are in the southern part of the country.

The government has amended the provisions related to Nidhis under the Companies Act, which now requires Nidhi companies to apply to the Centre for updation of their status and declaration as a Nidhi company in Form NDH-4.

The time frame for this exercise is restricted to one year from the date of incorporation or within nine months of the Nidhi Amendment Rules — August 15, 2019, whichever is later. This means that firms incorporated as Nidhi before the amendment rules (August 15, 2019) will have to apply within one year from the date of its incorporation or within 9 months of the amendment rules, whichever is later. Companies incorporated as Nidhi on or after August 15, 2019 will have to apply within 60 days of expiry of one year from the date of incorporation or the extended period.

An official source said the idea is to make regulatory regime for Nidhi companies more effective as well as to accomplish the objectives of transparency and investor friendliness.

AMRG & Associates chief executive Gaurav Mohan said in case a company does not comply with mandated requirements, the entity and every officer of the company which is in default shall initially be punishable with fine which may extend to ₹5,000 and a further fine in case of continuous violations.

"Nidhi being a company incorporated with the objective of cultivating the habit of thrift and savings among its members, receiving deposits from and lending to its members only for their mutual benefit, these stringent measures would lead to greater transparency and will be a step forward in invoking investor friendliness in the economy," he noted.
